

Announcement from the BW Global Supply Chain Team

We are excited to announce the launch of the New Barry-Wehmiller Supplier Website, a key resource for supporting our shared commitment to excellence and sustainability with our supply chain.

This new platform is a portal for our suppliers to understand the requirements of doing business with all Barry-Wehmiller entities. It currently hosts our recently created Supplier Sustainability Requirements, which outline expectations for sustainable practices and responsible sourcing, along with our Supplier Business Code of Conduct, which reinforces the core values and ethical standards that guide our supplier partnerships. These are new global supply chain requirements that have been incorporated into our new Global Terms and Conditions (also on the site) as well as divisional contracts, creating consistency and alignment across all Barry-Wehmiller divisions.

We will continue to develop and add to this page as we define further shared requirements for our global suppliers across all platforms. We expect to define Quality requirements, transportation guidelines and foreign trade conditions, among other topics.

Please join us in recognizing and thanking the Supply Chain team for their outstanding leadership and contributions in bringing this initiative to life!

We encourage you to explore the Supplier Website and familiarize yourself with these important resources, which play a crucial role in driving collaboration and long-term success with our suppliers. You can access the Supplier Website and explore these resources here: <https://www.barrywehmiller.com/suppliers>